

Senior Loan Officer Survey

on Business-Lending Practices in Canada

Results of the First-Quarter 2014 Survey | Vol. 7.1 | 7 April 2014

This Senior Loan Officer Survey (SLOS) focused on changes to business-lending practices in the first quarter of 2014.

- The survey results point to a slight easing in overall business-lending conditions during the first quarter of 2014 (Chart 1), a continuation of the almost uninterrupted easing that has been reported since late 2009. The net easing occurred mainly in the price aspects of business lending (Chart 2).^{1, 2}
- Responses indicate an easing in both price and non-price conditions for all categories of borrowers.
- Senior loan officers noted ongoing competitive pressures among lending institutions and from capital markets during the first quarter. A slight improvement in access to capital markets was reported for both prime investment-grade and non-investment-grade borrowers.
- The balance of opinion regarding the demand for credit from financial institutions during the first quarter tilted slightly toward a net decrease in demand, mainly from commercial borrowers. This follows a reported slight increase in demand in the fourth quarter of 2013.

Chart 1: Senior loan officers reported a slight easing in lending conditions for Canadian non-financial firms...

Overall business-lending conditions: Balance of opinion^a

a. The balance of opinion is calculated as the weighted percentage of surveyed financial institutions reporting tightened credit conditions minus the weighted percentage reporting eased credit conditions. Thus, a positive balance of opinion implies a net tightening. The chart shows the average of the balances of opinion for the price and non-price dimensions of lending conditions.

Chart 2: ...mainly in terms of price conditions

Price and non-price lending conditions: Balance of opinion^a

a. The balance of opinion is calculated as the weighted percentage of surveyed financial institutions reporting tightened credit conditions minus the weighted percentage reporting eased credit conditions.

Note: Each series is the simple average of the balances of opinion for the small-business, commercial and corporate sectors.

1 The SLOS defines the pricing of credit as spreads over base rates and/or fees rather than as the level of rates.

2 Note that the balance of opinion indicates only the direction of the net change in lending conditions; it does not provide information on the magnitude of the change.

The Senior Loan Officer Survey collects information on the business-lending practices of major Canadian financial institutions. In particular, the survey gathers the perspectives of respondents on price and non-price terms of business lending and on topical issues of interest to the Bank of Canada. The survey is conducted quarterly, near the end of the quarter for which the results are reported. The first-quarter survey was conducted between 10 and 17 March 2014. Additional information on the survey is available on the Bank of Canada's website.

The survey results summarize opinions expressed by the respondents and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Bank of Canada.